International Conference under the Auspices of CCM: "Evolution of Constitutional Control in Europe: Lessons Learned and New Challenges"

On 2 March 2017, the International Conference on the evolution of constitutional control in Europe was held with the support of the EU funded project. The event was attended by 80 international high officials, including presidents and members of over 20 Constitutional Courts, representatives of the General Court of the EU, as well as the President of the Venice Commission, Gianni Buquicchio.

Alexandru Tănase, the President of CCM, in his opening speech underscored that throughout its existence CCM was the key institution in solving the most difficult institutional issues and most pressing institutional conflicts.

Gianni Buquicchio, the President of the Venice Commission, in his speech mentioned that in a state governed by the rule of law, the judgments of the Constitutional Court must be implemented and not be made the subject of a vote, whether in parliament or by the people.

Andrian Candu, the Speaker of Parliament, stated that the independence of constitutional courts must be protected from any political interference and that the rulings of constitutional courts have to be treated with respect. According to the Speaker, "using the Constitution for political or group interests is tempting for some, but I would like to assure you that an analysis of the caselaw of the Constitutional Court of the Republic of Moldova proves that this is not possible. And this is a reason for joy."
